CASE UNDER ADVISEMENT.

Final Argument Made in Suit Against Standard Oil Co.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Raleigh, N. C., January 1.—Police Justice Alexander Stronach has heard the last of argument of counsel in the case against the Standard Oil Company, alleging violation of the North Carolina antitrust law in cutting prices of oil to drive out competition. He announced hast night, at the conclusion of the closing speech by J. II. Pout for the defense, that he would have the case under advisement for a few days before announcing his ruling. If he finds the Standard guilty, he will impose a fine against the trust that will, in the language of Attorney-General Bickett in his closing argument for conviction, "be such a penalty that the nation will understand that in North Carolina commercial plracy will not be tolerated that any man can come here and embark in any business, and none will dare to hurt or hinder or make him afraid, and that it is a land where, it commercial as well as physical life the weak can grow strong and the strong grow great." Mr. Bickett, it is argument, reviewed figures from the testimony to show that the actual cost of oil delivered in Raleigh is 7.3 cents, plus freight, Baltimore to Norfelk, and that the present price her of 7.25 cents, is a Standard "cut to Kill."

Desired Effect.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Norfolk, Va., January 1.—The gambling houses in Norfolk must close.

This is the edict of Chief of Police

Norfelk, Va., January I.—The gambling houses in Norfelk must close. This is the edict of Chief of Police Kiser, and last night things were dark in City Hall Avenue, Granby and Bank Streets, where the principal rooms are located. The question is, How long will the lid be kept on?

In the past the police have been hampered by an alleged imperfection in the State laws, making it hard to convict them of any offense, but a recent city ordinance passed, in the opinion of Chief Kiser, makes it possible for him to get behind the alleged places. At least, his order to close up has had the desired effect.
